

Ballyhackamore Credit Union. Cookie Policy

Like most websites, we use cookies. Cookies are small text files our website sends to your browser and which are stored on your computer. We use cookies because they let us arrange website content for you more quickly, and let us track how you use the website. Cookies also allow us to improve website navigation, making it easier for you to use our website. The majority of cookies we use collect information anonymously.

How do I change my cookie settings? You are not obliged to accept cookies that we send to you, and you can modify your browser so that it will not accept cookies. If you don't want us to place cookies on your computer then there are a number of ways you can opt out - setting your browser either to reject all cookies, to only allow "trusted" sites to set them, to accept only those cookies from those websites which you are currently on.

The website at <http://www.aboutcookies.org/how-to-control-cookies/> gives you detailed step by step guidance on how to control and delete cookies depending on your browser type. You can then adjust your browser settings to your preferred level.

Please remember – if you do delete all or some of your cookies, some features of our websites may not work and your experience on our website may be affected.

Cookies used on bhcu.co.uk

Session cookies are stored on your computer only for the duration of your visit to our website. As soon as you close your browser or turn off your computer, session cookies are destroyed. As a security measure, your online session will terminate after a pre-determined period of inactivity and all session cookies will be destroyed.

Persistent cookies remain on your computer until they reach their expiry date (if applicable) or until you delete them. Once the cookie has expired or been deleted, it will be removed from your computer's hard drive. While a persistent cookie is on your hard drive, it will be accessed each time you visit our website.

First party cookies are those set by bhcu.co.uk

Third party cookies are authorised by us but set by a third party. Any third party cookies are only used for the purposes agreed with us. The third party will not use them for any other purpose.

Strictly Necessary Cookies and First-Party Cookies. These cookies are essential to enable you to move around the websites and use its features, such as accessing secure areas of the websites. Without these cookies, our websites won't work properly. These cookies are set by the site itself.

Analytical or Performance Cookies and Third-Party Cookies. Analytical cookies collect information about how you use our website and help us improve how our website work. This could be the pages you visit most often and how you move around our website. This helps us improve our website.

We use tools such as Google Analytics to help us better understand how you navigate to and through our websites, how long you spend visiting our pages, how often you return to visit our website and what demographic categories (age, gender, interests) you fall into.

Google Analytics uses cookies to collect this information and this information helps us to improve our websites.

You may stop the transmission of information generated by the cookies about your use of our website to Google, by downloading and installing the Google Analytics Opt-out Browser Add-on available here: <http://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>.

Please also see Google's privacy notice for further information.

You should be aware that when you link to another website from our website, we have no control over that other website, or the privacy practices of that other website.
